

MALMO SAFETY UPDATE

From Trent Charles, President, Malmo Community League

Your Safety Statistics are Needed!

It's been amazing connecting with so many Malmo residents over the last few months! There is so much warmth and dedication from our gem of a community. In my conversations with community members, the #1 issue is safety. We've been getting the ball rolling, and recently I met with the Chief of Staff (Yonathan Sumamo) for Minister of the Public Safety and Emergency Services (Mike Ellis). To spur action, they want us to provide a formal letter with as much data as possible. We will be sending a joint letter with Southgate Mall. Your statistics will greatly help us strengthen our letter!

Have you experienced crime or a lack of safety in Malmo? Please send an email to president@malmoplains.com (There will not be any personal information disclosed in the letter, we will be providing totals).

If possible, we would like to know:

- Date/Time
- Type of incident
- Dollar value involved
- Personal injuries?
- Police called
- Outcome

For Malmo Hall, we were broken into twice over the past 3 months. First, our main door handle was broken through. A few weeks later, the deadbolt of our garage door was cut through with an angle grinder. In total, our repairs cost $2,651.10. Thankfully Malmo resident Mike R. witnessed the second break-in and called police, who were able to recover the stolen belongings and apprehend the suspects.

Trent walked with the City of Edmonton Horticulture Department along the 46 Ave Whitemud Alley to discuss shrub management to improve sightlines and safety. Trimming will start in East Malmo and move to the West while their resources allow.

Trent (President) and Stephanie (Treasurer) met up with Police Chief Dale McFee to discuss Malmo safety in late August

An Open Dialogue with EPS

Saturday November 25th 2pm-4pm at Southgate Baptist Church

Our second quarterly Safety Meeting is an Open Dialogue with Edmonton Police Service Saturday November 25th 2pm-4pm at Southgate Baptist Church (11107 51 Ave). As frontline workers, EPS shoulder a lot of public criticism and blame. In my meeting with Police Chief Dale McFee, I learned that EPS is working hard to enforce safety, and they shared that they can be limited by external factors such as government policies. They are excited to share the initiatives they have in motion, tips to keep our neighbourhood safer, as well as answer any questions from residents.

In my meetings with different stakeholders, one crucial element that seems to be missing are lines of communications—whether it is between the city and province, between the city and the community, or the province and community. Our goal with the Open Dialogue is to start the flow of communication, starting with the community and EPS. We all need each other to create a successful outcome!

*To ensure your questions are answered during Q&A, please submit them to president@malmoplains.com beforehand.

A warm welcome to Malmö Community League's new Webmaster, Greg Gazin!

Greg has lived on the East side of Malmö for over 30 years. He has done tech, business & lifestyle writing for Troy Media, Edmonton Sun and many other publications, and also co-hosts the Toastmasters International podcast. Greg has researched Radon in depth, and has important news to share. For any questions, Greg can be reached at webmaster@malmoplains.com

November is National Radon Action Month

Radon is a silent killer potentially lurking in Malmö homes, but because its effects are not instantly fatal like from carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning or smoke inhalation from fumes from a raging fire, Radon doesn't seem to be given the attention it deserves.

Radon is everywhere. According to Health Canada, it's a naturally occurring radioactive gas created as uranium found in soil and rock decays. Like CO, it's also odourless and tasteless. In Canada, Radon is the second leading cause of lung cancer, next to smoking, and the number one cause of cancer in non-smokers. In fact, according to StatsCan, deaths from Radon were almost 10x that of CO.

Now living in Malmö, you might think - I don't have a Radon problem, otherwise I would have heard about it. In fact, the Canadian Prairies has the 2nd highest levels of Radon in the world next to Poland.

Yes, Radon in Malmö.

My Radon was discovered by accident

I was testing a gadget called the Airthings Wave for review for a magazine article. Airthings designs at-home Radon and Air Quality measurement devices. Over a period of a year, I discovered that Radon levels in my Malmö home were on average almost double the recommended levels.

This was obviously a concern that needed to be addressed and thus began my investigation and research. It included speaking with experts, scientists, remediators, lung associations, government officials, and even people who had lung cancer despite never having smoked.

This resulted in a series of three articles called the Dangers of Radon, published by Troy Media which can also be accessed from our website MalmöPlains.com

Articles Include:

- Radon: the silent killer lurking in your home
- The myths and misconceptions surrounding radon
- How I discovered radon in my home and mitigated it

I encourage you all to read the articles and take action on Radon. A simple inexpensive test might just give you peace of mind.

Rink Refresh!

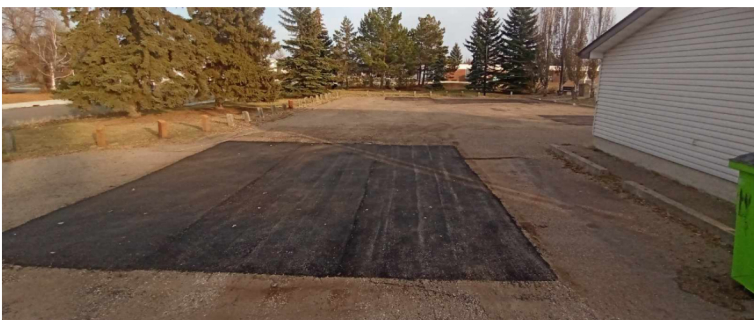

We made some upgrades to the hockey rink for the winter. Malmo resident and ice maker Tim W. volunteered his time to repaint the inside of the rink. And Malmo master electrician Eric F. replaced the rink lights with new energy efficient LED lights, brightening up our whole rink. Not only did Eric volunteer his time, he also paid for the lights and man lift as well. We are so grateful to have such generous residents!

No More Potholes!

One of the major expenses was fixing the parking lot. It had a lot of potholes that weren't very safe to drive or walk through. We were very lucky we were able to get these repairs done before winter.
